

CORONAVIRUS SAFE SYSTEM OF WORK – BREAKDOWN AND RECOVERY

Following publication of the above Safe System of Work SURVIVE have been made aware that concerns have been raised by Police Scotland, and some individual Police Forces in England.

These concerns are specifically in relation to the practice of recovering casualty vehicles with the occupants inside. This practice has been introduced as a temporary measure, taking a risk based approach, during the COVID 19 Pandemic.

Although we continue to believe that this represents best practice for the industry during the Pandemic, SURVIVE is working with National Police Chiefs Council and Department for Transport to clarify the guidelines for the industry.

Subsequent to this we will communicate the outcome and any changes to best practice which are agreed.
